NEW HAVEN BLAMES UNION

General Manager Bardo Says Man- agements Efficiency is Impaired by Organization's Attitude

Bridgeport, Conn., June 19.—The joint inquiry conducted here for the last two days by the Interstate Commerce Commission into the fatal wreck on the New Haven road June 12, in which 6 were killed, came to a close today.

A stir was caused when General Manager Bardo of the New Haven road took the stand and denounced the methods of the railroad men's organization as tending to destroy discipline among the employees. He said the time had come when the labor organization must call a halt for the safety of the public. He told of the engineers protesting against a rule promulgated by the company requiring a two years' experience for engineers before being permitted to take passenger runs.

R. S. Evans, general chairman of the engineers' committee, denied Mr.
Bardo's statements. He said that the engineers did not protest against the two-year rule, but against the manner in which it was enforced. He further branded as untrue statements that the organization had forced any rule upon the road restricting safe operation of trains.

During the day testimony was given by three recognized air brake inspectors that Engineer Doherty, who was in charge of the colliding engine, in the wreck, was not the proper person to handle the new superheated engine, because of his brief experience as a passenger engineer. They all declared he used poor judgment in operating his brakes.

It was also shown that of the great number of cars owned by the road only a few are of steel. Some of the cars built in the sixties are still in use. It was impossible to determine the age of forty of the cars.

Engineer Doherty, on the stand declared that he had never been properly instructed where to stop his train at Stamford.

U. S. S. IDAHO COMING. For Docking and Painting— Arrive First Week of July.

The battleship Idaho has been ordered here for docking and painting, and will arrive some time during the first week of July.

The vessel commanded by Captain William L. Howard is assigned to the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet,
and is at present at Tampico, Mex.
The vessel is 375 feet in length, has a displacement of 13,000 and draft of 27 feet. She carries a crew of 700 men.

The North Dakota, now at Newport, has been ordered to New York for docking.

MAYOR MAKES APPOINTMENTS

Mayor Badger appointed William C.
Walton, and Dr. Wallis D. Walker, library trustees, and Hon. Wallace Haskell a member of the sinking fund commission at the meeting of the city government held on Thursday evening.

HARRY K. TORREY IS SELECTED AS JUDGE OF COURT

Will Succeed Judge Thomas H. Simes as Police Judge.

Concord, June 19.—Among the new justices agreed upon by the Governor and council at their meeting on Wednesday night was that of Harry K.
Torrey of Portsmouth, in place of Judge T. H. Simes. The name when suggested was agreed upon by vote, as was most of the others. The commissions will be made out after Tuesday, next.

WRIGHT—TAYLOR.

Two Popular Young People Joined in Wedlock at Dover.

A very pretty wedding of two popular young people took place in Dover
on Thursday evening, the contracting parties being Charles Shannon Wright
of Riverport, N. J., formerly of this city, and Miss Annie Wright Taylor of Dover. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Elynn Hitchcock of the Methodist church. The bride looked charming in a very pretty gown of French blue. She was attended by Miss Edie Wright of this city, sister of the groom, and William Taylor, brother of the bride, acted as best man. Following the ceremony the couple repaired to the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Frank Tompkins on Fifth street, where a reception was held, attended only by the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Wright later left for New York and at the conclusion of their honeymoon will make their home in Riverport, N. J., where the groom, a promising young business man, holds a fine position with the Campbell Soup Company. The bride has for the past four years filled the position of bookkeeper at the office of the C. F. Holmes company. Her lovable and pleasant disposition has endeared her to many friends and acquaintances in this city as well as Dover, who now join in best wishes for a long and happy wedded life to the young couple.

ON MAIDEN TRIP.

Cleveland Business Men En- joy Trip on New Steamer to Buffalo.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20.—Members of the Cleveland Manufacturers' & Wholesale Merchants Board and their families arrived here today on board the new steamer Seaside, which left Cleveland on its maiden voyage last night. The manufacturers and merchants had chartered the boat for themselves and families and for western New York and Pennsylvania customers who came here as their guests. The Seaside is the largest sidewheel passenger steamer on the Great Lakes. She is 500 feet long and 97 feet and 8 inches wide. She will accommodate 6,000 passengers,
and can make 22 miles per hour.
The visitors expect to return to Cleveland tonight.

LICENSED EMBALMERS

Elect Officers at Annual Meet- ing at Concord.

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire Licensed Embalmers' association was held at Concord Wednesday afternoon. Officers elected included the following: President, Elmer D. Goodwin, Manchester; first vice president, Hiram B. Currier of Mil-lborough; second vice president, Charles C. Hopkins, Lakeport; transaction committee, Arthur W. Holt, New Boston, H. G. Kilkenny of Concord, C. W. Johnson of Belmont.

DENTAL ASSOCIATION

Meets in Annual Session at the Weirs.

The New Hampshire Dental Association opened its 36th annual session at the Weirs on Wednesday and will conclude today. In the course of the three days the members had as their guests Dr. M. H. Cryer of Philadelphia; Dr. Charles A. Jameson; Dr. J.
L. Taylor; Dr. Leon S. Medalla; Dr.
J. F. Havensadt; and Dr. K. H. Thomas of Boston; Dr. Henry A. Kelley of Portland; and Dr. J. G. Lane of Philadelphia. The officers of the New

LOOKING FOR ARMORY SITE

Piece of Land on Peirce Estate, Near Marginal Road, Meets With Approval of Committee

Portsmouth is now interesting itself
in the choice of a site for the armory.
In accordance with the precedent established by its predecessors, and in keeping with a provision of the armory bill passed by the state legislature, the city council will select a site for the armory and the city will contribute the land necessary. The bill provides an appropriation of $15,000 for the construction of the armory alone.

Councilmen Harold H. Bennett, C.
Fred Duncan and E. Oscar (Indiana), who constitute a special committee appointed by Mayor Daniel W. Badger, recently rode about the city in company with Maj. Channing G. Hoyt, commanding the Coast Artillery Division of the New Hampshire National Guard, viewing the probable sites. It is said that the committee favors the stable piece of land owned by the Peirce estate and at the rear of the Peirce mansion on Haymarket square.

The land is bounded on the west by the Peirce mansion and other estates in the residential district of Middle street, and on the south, west and east by Marginal road, which separates the land from the South playground.

The city council committee says that practically all parades in which the Coast Artillery company of Portsmouth will participate, and all big outings of military and civic bodies, will be held as near the playgrounds as possible. Principally because of this reason, and the central situation of the land, the Peirce estate is believed by the committee to be logical. It is not said whether the Peirce estate will dispose of the land. Also, the state militia is assured that if an armory is constructed the government will build a lower that will provide a lookout upon the sea. The site is but a short distance removed from the ocean.

Hampshire Dental Society are: President, G. B. Rowell, Concord; vice president, Dr. E. H. Albee of Concord; secretary, Dr. F. F. Fisher of Manchester; treasurer, Dr. W. A. Young of Concord. Members of the executive committee, Dr. C. S. Copeland of Rochester, Dr. F. E. McLaren of Manchester, and Dr. C. E. Rowe of Lakeport. Social committee, Dr. Edward T.
White of Nashua, Dr. E. M. Bowers
of Hillsborough Bridge.

CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Wants Baseball Game at Sun- rise on July 4.

The freight clerks who push the pen
at the desks of the local Boston & Maine freight office have organized for a fight on the baseball diamond.
They are anxious to meet any nine from the other freight offices along the line who think they know the National game. The local team has some batteries in Madden and Caswell and are decidedly proud of the showing so far made by their club artist. Their first game will be against a nine representing the local truckmen, who have been coached under the baseball eye of Capt. Fred Pickering, who wants the game pulled off at sunrise on the morning of July 4. The railroad men have ordered a uniform of some class,
the caps of which have already arrived. This sunrise baseball has one on the Sunset League.

PLEASE ENTERTAINMENT.

Mr. Prentiss A. Allen entertained the Home for Aged Women and the Mark Wentworth Home this week with an other of his musical favors and recitations. That at the Wentworth Home on Wednesday afternoon was given in costume, Miss M. E. B. Miller assisting at the piano. His three characters were as a priest, as a maiden lady, and as a tramp, the dress being appropriate to the songs. It was a delightful treat to the ladies and a number of visitors at the Home. Among his songs were: "When the Corneth Make Up His Jewels," "Sweet Hour of Prayer," "Over the Hill to the Poor
House," and "The Holy City."

ATTENDED YOUNG JUDEA CON- VENTION.

Simon Kutz has returned from a trip to New York where he represented New Hampshire as a delegate to the Young Judea convention. Three hundred delegates were present at the gathering from different parts of the United States. The convention was held Saturday night in New York city and Sunday an all-day session in Long Island.

HOODOO NUMBER

Thirteen candidates for admission to the bar are taking the examination before the commission at the state library building.

DEPARTMENT ISSUES RULES FOR C. O. D. PACKAGES

New Regulations for Parcel Post Packages After July 1st.

C. O. D. Parcel Post goes into effect July 1, and from the office of the postmaster general orders have been issued amending the parcel post regulations. These orders have not as yet been received here but are expected at an early date. Provisions of the new order include the following:

The sender of a mailable parcel on which the postage is prepared in full, may have the price of the article and the postage thereon collected from the addressee on payment of a fee of ten cents in parcel post stamps attached, provided the amount to be collected does not exceed $100.
Such a parcel will be insured against loss, without additional charge. In an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50.

The sender of a collection delivery
C. O. D. parcel will be given a receipt showing the office and date of mailing, the number of the parcel and the amount due him.

A C. O. D. parcel will be accepted for mailing only at a money order office, and when addressed to a money order office. Money order offices are designated in the parcel post guide by an asterisk (*) of a dagger.
The postmaster at the mailing office will be held responsible for the postage required for the return of a parcel addressed to a non-money order office.

If a C. O. D. parcel is received at a non-money order office, the postmaster will notify the office of mailing of the amount of postage required for its return. The postmaster at the office of mailing will ascertain from the sender whether he desires the parcel returned or delivered without collection of the charges. If the sender notifies him in writing that the parcel may be delivered without collecting the charges, he will attach the order to the office coupon and notify the postmaster at the office of address to that effect. If no reply is received from the mailing office, the parcel will be treated as provided in sections 49, 50 and 52.

The C. O. D. tag must show the amount due the sender, the money order fee necessary to make the remittance and the total amount to be collected. It should be attached securely to the parcel, which should be numbered to correspond with the tag stamped C. O. D. and the charges to be collected plainly written thereon.

The parcel will be treated as ordinary mail until it reaches the office of address, where, on payment of all charges, it will be delivered to the addressee, in the person, firm or corporation in whose care it is addressed or to any responsible person to whom the addressee's ordinary mail is cus-tomarily delivered. A receipt for the parcel must be obtained on the tag attached thereto.

A receipt signed by other than the addressee, as well as that of the person signing it. A signature made by fire was in progress. The fire was extinguished with slight damage.

RIVERSIDES AND FORTS PLAY A TIE GAME

The Riverdies and the Fort played a tie game in the Sunset League schedule Thursday evening the game being called in the fifth.

The refusal of Empire Sheridan to allow the teams to play another inning it was then 7:05 started trouble. Manager Wiscomb stated after the game that this was the last time the Fort would play with Sheridan unimpaired. Wiscomb said that they wanted to go on for another inning, but Sheridan would not permit it, although the previous evening he made the P. A. C. play at 7:30.

The game was fast and well played, and interesting, both teams showing improvement, especially the Fort, are playing much better ball and look good enough to give everybody a go.

The game goes over, and will be played over at a later date.

The first game between the Y. M. C. A. and the Fort which was protested by the Fort team because Sherdies pitched has been thrown out and it will be played over. It is not known if the same action will be taken with other games played with them not eligible under the rule, but if it does the Elks and Knights of Columbus will be the worst affected.

TURKEY TROT BARRED

Wheeling, West Virginia, June 20.—They have clamped the lid down, in regard to the dances which will and won't be permitted here tonight at the state ball given in connection with West Virginia's semi-centennial week. At first the committee announced that the fango, turkey trot, hesitation waltz, bunny hug, grizzly bear, and all similar Torpedohorseman dances would be strictly taboo. Then a great storm of protest arose and the committee decided to permit the fango and the hesitation waltz, but the others can't be hugged into the ball room floor tonight. The committee says it will have watchers to spy out any of the dances Mayor Gaynor calls lascivious, and send the dancers home.

A religious mass for Mr. Eugene M. O'Callaghan was held at St. John's church, Concord, this morning. The members of the Ladies' Catholic Benevolent Association attended in body and the church was crowded.

This Year's English Derby, Due to Many Circumstances, Will Always be Remembered

London, June 20.—The running of this year's English Derby at Epsom Downs will always be remembered by the public. This is due to the number of things that happened during and after the race. The great event was on June 4. Not only was Crispin, the favorite for the race, disqualified after finishing first—the race being awarded to Anson, a 100 to 1 shot—but Miss Emily Davidson, a militant suffragette, ran across the course at Tattenham corner and seized the bridle of the king's horse.

At that point there are double rails, and the spectators are kept behind the inner rail. Walter Biel, who rode Aggie in the race, says Miss Davidson darted under both rails, dashed right under the head of Aggie with her eyes fixed on Anson, who was slightly behind and on the outside, and deliberately threw herself in front of Anson, with the dreadful result that the horse struck her, knocked her senseless, but was himself brought down, through being unbalanced. Of course the horse fell, and Jockey Jones was flung heavily onto the hard ground and badly hurt. Miss Davidson died from injuries a few days later. Recently Crispin was sold to the government of Argentina for the sum of $150,000. The picture shows the finish of the race. The names of the horses and jockeys riding them (left to right) are: Nimbus (M. Henry), Great Spurt (J. Stern), Crispin (J. Relf), Anson (B. Piper), Sun Yat (W. Halsey), Laurels (W. Saxby) and Shogun (P. Wootton).

BABY FALLS A DISTANCE OF TWENTY FEET

Virginia May, the three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanford, No. 175 Congress street, fell from the balcony of her home Thursday afternoon and was seriously injured.

The baby was playing on the balcony, a distance of twenty feet from the ground, when in some manner she managed to reach the railing and fell. She struck on her head and was unconscious when picked up, but recovered and a careful examination failed to find any broken bones. The extent of her injuries will not be known for a day.

BEACH LOTS FOR SALE

Wallis Sands, Rye, N. H.

This beach, the finest on the New Hampshire coast, is especially desirable for the children, and is known everywhere as the children's beach. It is a clean, fine, sandy beach, free from rocks, is one mile long, crescent in shape, and wide and flat, with perfectly safe bathing at all times of tide. There is good fishing from the rocks at the extreme ends of the beach, and a most excellent hotel, under able management. Telephones and electric lights can be had in all the cottages. All supplies are brought to the door, and it is within easy communication with Portsmouth, N. H. The lots have a frontage on the beach and ocean, are high and slightly, and extend back to the boulevard. Excellent water is found on every lot by simply digging a well some fifteen feet. The water is pure and ice cold, and has the taste and appearance of spring water. A plan of the lots, and full information can be had by applying to:

Councilman Bennett Offers Ordinance to Prohibit the Cut Out—Other Business of City Council.

A meeting of the Mayor and Council was held on Thursday evening with Adams and Smart the only absentees. There were the usual bunch of petitions, but very little business of importance as the Council met about ten days ago.

Councilman Clark, the chairman of the special committee which considered the Muffler Avenue matter, asked for further time, as they had received an estimate from the Board of Public Works that the cost of making the street passable would be more than twice what the petitioners thought. Further time was granted.

Councilman Plinkham for the State Armory site committee asked for further time which was granted.

Councilman Clark offered a resolution renewing the temporary notes held by the city pending the taxes and Mayor Badger stated that this would be necessary as it was feared that the State Tax Commission would hold back the local assessors, being dissatisfied with the assessment of the local assessor. Another resolution along the same line authorizing a temporary loan of $15,000 for the same reason as the first was offered and passed.

Councilman Bennett offered an ordinance regulating the use of the auto muffler within the city limits. It forbids the use of the muffler cut out within the city limits under penalty as prescribed by the law of 1911. Mr. Bennett explained that the ordinance had the approval of the Automobile Club and it was much needed to do away with the nuisance created by the joy riders etc. The ordinance passed its first reading and was referred to the committee on Bills on Second Reading.

Councilman Duncanson chairman of the Committee on Fire Department offered a resolution transferring the sum of $250 from Contingent to the firemen's field day, the same to be expended under the direction of the Committee and Chief Engineer.

Councilman Cox offered a resolution transferring the sum of $169.77 from the police court justice fund to city auditor's salary. A similar resolution making the same transfer for the clerk of the Assessors was passed. This was to take the place of the resolutions offered at the last session which were vetoed by the Mayor on the ground that the resolutions provided for the increase to date back to January, which was unlawful. At the same time the resolution approving the amendment to the city charter increasing the salaries of the Auditor and Clerk of the Assessors was reconsidered on motion of Councilman Bennett and then passed by a unanimous vote.

net and then passed by a unanimous vote. This was necessary for a record as the bill required that it be provided by a majority of the members elected to the city council.

Councilman Cronin had a complaint against the Board of Public Works for not expending the money appropriated for the Pine street play grounds. He stated that of the $200 only about half had been expended and he wanted it used up so that the people of that district might get the use of the grounds. Supt. Barrett of the Board of Public Works was called before the Council and explained that the delay was due to more important work in other parts of the city, but stated that it would be finished as soon as possible.

A communication was received from the agents of the Fred J. Bennett property on Ball street, calling the attention of the Council that when a public sewer had been laid through Newcastle avenue the private sewer into that street had been cut off and the result was that it backed up. They had it fixed and thought that the city should stand the expense for cutting off the sewer without notice. Referred to the committee on claims.

Councilman Cronin brought up the matter of the proposed new streets, that is, extension of the Cutts, extension of Park avenue to Orchard street and a new street from Middle to Park avenue extension.

Mayor Badger said that while the modern city had long ago adopted the system that a street should have to be built and piped for sewer and water before being accepted, this city had never done that. Councilman Bennett said that Manton avenue was the nearest to this and before new streets were built he was in favor of accepting those which were built. The financial condition of the city forbade accepting new streets at great expense to the city.

On motion of Councilman Clark all of the petitions were denied and on each Councilman Plinkham called for the yeas and nays vote and in each case he and Cronin alone voted in the negative and the petitions were denied. The Auditor's report of the bills and for the pay rolls for July and August were approved.

Adjourned until July 17.

BABY SEA LION

Born at "Paragon Park" Divides Attention With the Cabaret Sensations in the "Palm Garden." The Cabaret, the Palm Garden and Paragon Park, at Nantasket, will be alive with new attractions the coming week. Gorgeous fireworks displays are now given every Wednesday and Saturday nights.

Many new features are to be seen in the Cabaret, several of which made their first appearance the past week and proved a distinct hit. A leading feature is Mile. Emmerie, a trapeze artist, who has made a decided novelty Cabaret feature of her performance. Seated at one of the tables in evening dress with her escort, she suddenly leaps from the table to the bar of her trapeze and begins to disrobe. The effect is astonishing for the moment. Her aerial acrobatic work is only exceeded by her attractive figure. The Pendleton Sisters in unique Cabaret dances, are another addition to the already long list of Cabaret attractions. Yorick and Labinda offer a genuine surprise. The climax of their act leaves the Palm Garden guests still guessing. Oterita and LaFreque, two dainty mississ, offer a novel wooden shoe dancing specialty. Other Cabaret features are Louise Laurie, Edna Leader, Miss Camilla, Art Spaulding, Zaida Kuy, Mile. Day, Veta El Toro, the Rombo Trio of grand opera singers, and the Guatemala Marimbas Serenaders. The Palm Garden guests at the Cabaret have in addition the pleasure of the band concert of Mace Bay's Military Band.

In the free open air circus this week will be seen the Aerial Larkins, the acrobatic Zolinos, and the wonderful Nerve, the Human Comet, in his daring loop the loop dive from a dizzy height, completing his spectacular stunt with a triple somersault and a dive into the Lagoon.

The sea lions in the Lagoon are a bigger attraction than ever this season. Visitors are especially delighted with the novel sight of the baby sea lion recently born at Paragon Park which is as playful in the water with its mother as a week old kitten.

MOUNTS GUNS ON THE LOUISIANA.

The reason why the crack liner Lusitania is so long delayed at Liverpool has been announced, to be because her turbine engines are being completely replaced, but Captain officials acknowledged that the greyhound is being equipped with high power naval rifles in conformity with England's new policy of arming passenger boats. So when the great ship the third selected by the Government for armament, next appears in New York harbor about the end of August she will be the first English merchantman for more than a century sailing up the lower bay with black guns bristling over her sides.

The Lusitania, which will be an almost invaluable addition to England's fleet, because not only is she so fast, but of such great capacity for the carrying of troops, was originally built with her decks adapted for rifles, and the task of installing the battle guns will be comparatively easy. It is very probable that immediately the tourist season is ended the Mauretania will be called to Liverpool, overhauled and equipped with guns. The British Government is hastening the task of creating an armed fleet under the red ensign.

BURN EIGHTY WOMEN IN RUSSIAN VILLAGE

Peasants in District of Piatin Enraged by the Importation of Cheap Girl Labor.

St. Petersburg, June 19.—Eighty women were burned to death today by villagers enraged at the importation of cheap girl labor to work on a sugar estate in the district of Piatin, in the province of Poltava, Southern Russia, according to the Kiev newspaper, Kiev Liainin.

The excited villagers first securely fastened all the means of exit from a wooden barn in which the girls were housed. They then set fire to the building while the inmates were still asleep and all were burned to death without a chance of escape.

COMMENCEMENT AT
SMITH COLLEGE

The Commencement festivities at Smith College began on Wednesday evening, June 19th when the Seniors held their last "wing." After surrendering the steps to the Juniors, the Seniors all took part in their annual hoop-rolling contest and then formed in a large circle on campus, and called for various members of 113 to "do stunts."

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, performances of Senior Dramatics were given to large and enthusiastic audiences of the students, alumnae and friends. "The Taming of the Shrew" was the play given this year and not only the acting, but the entire management of the production, was done by members of the Senior class. Clara Ripley of Dorchester, Mass., as Petruchio, displayed some especially good acting and Margaret Bryan, of New Rochelle, N. Y., took the part of Katherine with equal force and strength of personality. The scenery and costumes were admirably suited to the play, as was the music written especially for it by members of the Senior class. All the minor parts were given much attention and were well played. Margaret Moore of Chicago, Ill., was manager of dramatics.

President Burton preached the Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday, June 16th, at 4 o'clock, and President Emeritus Seelye gave the prayer.

On Sunday evening at Organ Vespers, Prof. Henry Dyke Sleeper, of the Music Department played several beautiful selections.

The out-door Ivy exercises on the campus were first on the program Monday morning. The Alumnae Parade by classes, each in a unique costume showing the class colors, marched up across the campus and then divided and mingled with the throng of spectators, as the Seniors, all in white and each carrying an American Beauty rose came slowly up the walk, ushered on either side by the Juniors carrying the Ivy Chain. At the Library they stopped to plant the class Ivy and sing their Ivy Song. Then they went on into the John M. Greeley Hall for the more formal exercises. The Ivy Day Oration was given by Marion Tines, 1913, of Albion, Ill., and cleverly written sketches of college life by Gretchen Todd, 1913 of Milburn, N. J., and Elizabeth Schlosser, 1913, of Westport, Conn. The Class President, Rachel Whidden of West Newton, Mass., made a delightful speech of welcome.

In the afternoon the College Orchestra gave its closing concert and the Art Gallery was open for an exhibition. All the student societies held reunions to welcome back their former members. After the Glee Club Concert on the campus in the evening, the Seniors and their friends attended the President's Reception, given at the Chapin House. The whole campus was aglow with Japanese lanterns and the members of each class formed in groups and sang their favorite songs and ran about serenading the other classes.

The graduation exercises were held in John M. Greeley Hall on Tuesday morning. President Henry Church III King, of Oberlin College, delivered the address, on the subject of "Preparation for Personality." He showed the necessity of personal relations in all life and emphasized self-respect and respect for others as the two great aspects of reverence for personality. Then as the Seniors filed up, President Burton presented to each a diploma, and after the exercises were over, the whole class formed in a great ring on the campus and passed the diplomas from hand to hand till each girl had her own.

At noon a collation was served for all the Alumnae, including the recent addition of 1913, and in the afternoon the Alumnae Assembly was held. 1913's Class Supper with its interesting toasts and speeches and the serenading by the undergraduates, occupied all Tuesday evening. Dorothy Helen Brown, of Montclair, N. J., was Toastmistress. Then with a good-bye song to "Alma Mater" the Commencement Festivities of 1913 were over.

The following girl from this city received the degree of A. B. Anne Batoholder, Italian Club Oriental Society College Archery Representative.

TO RETAIN WAR SECRETS

To prevent war secrets of the United States involved in naval ordnance manufactured under private contract, the United States Government will vigorously prosecute the injunction suit recently instituted at Brooklyn to restrain the E. W. Bliss Company from exhibiting or selling to foreign countries torpedoes similar to those which the company manufactured under contract for the United States navy. Malcolm A. Coles, special assistant to Attorney General McReynolds, and an expert in patent law, was assigned by the Department of Justice to assist United States District Attorney William J. Young of Brooklyn in the conduct of the case, a preliminary hearing of which will be held next week. Government officials regard the suit as an extremely important test of the extent of secrecy the United States military establishment may exact from private contractors. The suit is brought both under the contract statute and the national defense law forbidding anyone divulging military secrets of the United States.

The "torpedo torpedo" propelled by balanced turbines revolving in opposite directions, officials said was developed jointly by the bureau of ordnance of the Navy Department and the Bliss Torpedo Company, the Government holding some patents and the company others. The mechanism is so inter-related, ordnance experts believe, it would be impossible to separate the Government's patents from those of the company. The Government seeks an injunction to restrain the company from selling or showing the torpedoes to any foreign parties or Governments and especially from demonstrating it to the Whitehead Company of Great Britain.

CAUSE OF FORT MOULTRIE ACCIDENT.

The recent explosion of a four-inch coast defense gun, at Fort Moultrie, near Charleston, S. C., was caused by the "point of the firing pin striking the cartridge before the breech block was locked, according to a report by the board of inquiry which investigated the explosion. The accident resulted in the deaths of Captain Guy B. Hanna, Sixteenth Coast Artillery Corps and two privates, while nine privates were wounded. The condition which caused the disaster is said to have been one that could not easily have been observed.

STRIKERS INTERFERED WITH THE MAIL

New Orleans, June 19.—Nine strikers of the United Fruit steamship Furubahn, which arrived here yesterday from Central America, were arrested on Federal warrants, charging interference within the mails.

The steamship arrived 24 hours late and it is alleged the strikers failed to keep up steam sufficient to maintain the regular speed. A strike of the company strikers and other seamen was recently inaugurated as a result of a reduction in wages.

OUR CARDS TO THE FRONT.

American Built Cars Are Finding Great Favor in France.

Paris, June 18.—According to a statement issued here today by government statistical officials, American automobiles are pushing the French product off the market in France. In 1911 American cars to the number of 108 were imported; in 1912, 248; up to May, 1913, 418 cars had been imported from America, and several hundred others were on their way. It is the lower priced American car which seems to be finding great favor with French motorists according to the report. Nothing in France for twice the price, even counting in the freight charges and the duty, compares in quality or appearance to the American makes, it is declared. In many instances, it is said, the very costly French cars have failed to give the service given by the vastly cheaper American cars.

Learn to Swim.

As was to be expected the papers give daily examples of youthful folly in which some brainless young men and women either lose their lives or have very narrow escapes from drowning because they go out in row boats without being able to swim. The death toll is greatest on Sundays and it is too bad that all of those who are lacking in judgment and common sense cannot be compelled to read the Monday morning examples that they might profit by the sad lessons taught by the foolishness of others.

No amount of foresight can quite prevent boating accidents as very much depends on air and water currents and even the most careful meet with unexpected mishaps. The only logical course for those who enjoy the pastime, therefore, is to be prepared for emergencies by learning to swim. In other parts of the country the importance of this is being understood and some colleges make swimming a compulsory subject of the curriculum.

If the necessity for this is generally understood among young people there is no doubt that drowning accidents would be on the decrease. The young man or young woman who refuses to go into a canoe or frail row boat until they are able to swim will not invite as passengers those who have not acquired the art. When only one of two who are thrown from an upset boat can swim, a double funeral is not unusual.

Swimming is not a difficult art to acquire, and if the proposed public bath scheme materializes, a knowledge of it will be within the reach of all. In the meantime young men and women should strive to learn it in those places where bathing is permitted, and no one should think of entering a canoe or frail row boat who has not acquired the very necessary accomplishment.—Lowell Sun.

The Seven Faults of Man.

The modern young man is hardly aware that he has any faults. Sometimes he wonders how it ever happened that the Creator produced so perfect a being, and pities very much the past generations which waited in vain for the revealing of such a prodigy. He is far more accustomed to reading lists of his virtues than of his faults. And it would probably surprise him very much to know that women anywhere had ventured to suggest that there was anything lacking in him. It is far more to his taste to estimate the virtues of the young woman of the period, and to laud her to the skies or to damn her to the lowest depths as the fit may be on him.

Yet recently the impossible happened. A Paris magazine asked its women readers to vote on the seven worst faults of the modern young man. The appeal did not fall on deaf ears. They did as requested. And this is the list of faults as submitted: Let parents submit them to their sons of high school age, and let all young men look them over with care. Egotism got 10,014 votes; laziness and self-sufficiency got 7,400 votes each; and fast living, gambling, intemperance and abuse of sport vary from 6,400 to 5,000 votes.

This is the verdict of women, mind you. And the worst fault, in their eyes, of the average young man, is that he has a "swelled head." Next to this they place his indolence, and his general feeling of satisfaction with himself. And then come in order those practices on which many a young man is accustomed to pride himself as an evidence of his emancipation. What he thinks signs of wisdom in himself, these French women put down as bad faults. There is no need of comment on that. The young man who cannot read the lesson of the women's verdict is hopeless. And for the others, comment is unnecessary.—Lynn News.

Promotion for Enlisted Men.

Nothing less than brazen impudence can characterize the protest of certain civilians against Secretary of the Navy Daniel's plan to promote to vacancies in the pay corps certain enlisted men, says the National Tribune. These civilians put up a howl that they are being deprived of their rights as Americans by not being allowed these appointments. Certainly if there is anything worth having in the Army or Navy it should go to the men who have earned it by faithful service in lower positions. Nobody can be so well entitled to promotion as men who enlisted in the service and by intelligence, faithful service and careful preparation for promotion have put themselves in line for such. A policy of this kind is absolutely necessary to the best development of the Army and Navy. In Napoleon's army it was said that every private carried a Marshal's baton in his knapsack. It should be the same in the American Army and Navy. By giving these hopes of promotion we attract the best class of men to the service, retain them there and give the service that spirit of emulation which is necessary to its highest development. To think that some civilian who has taken absolutely no interest in the Army or Navy until there was a chance to get a good berth should be rewarded by that to the exclusion of the men in the Army or Navy is intolerable.

DEPARTMENT

ISSUES RULES FOR C. O. D. PACKAGES

mark X, must be attached by a reputable witness.

When a C. O. D. parcel is received without the tag attached, the charges shown on the parcel must be collected and the prescribed receipt obtained from the addressee.

An employee must receipt for the total number of parcels given him for delivery. This receipt will be surrendered to him either on the return of the parcels or the receipted tags, and the total amount to be collected.

The receipted tag will be considered as the addressee's application for a money order for the amount due the sender. A money order will then be issued, stamped C. O. D., and mailed to the sender in a specially envelope by the postmaster who will enter on the tag the number of the money order, the amount and date of issue, and file it with the other money order applications. No return receipt will be furnished the sender, as the money order serves the purpose.

The addressee will not be permitted to examine the contents of a C. O. D. parcel until it has been receipted for and all charges paid. A parcel may be refused when it is tendered for delivery has been effected it cannot be returned on account of dissatisfaction with the contents or the amount collected.

A parcel may be forwarded in accordance with section 46, without the payment of an additional C. O. D. fee. When so forwarded a duplicate receipt tag should be filed showing the office from which it is forwarded.

The records of C. O. D. parcels must be preserved at the mailing offices for one year, and at the delivery office for three years.

A claim for indemnity for a lost or stolen C. O. D. parcel should be treated as provided in section 62, paragraphs 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The department will not be responsible for errors made by the sender in stating the collection charges or for any misunderstanding between sender and addressee regarding the contents of parcels.

GOV. MANN PRESENT

Wheeling, West Virginia, June 20.—The presence of Governor Mann of Virginia among the principal speakers today which was celebrated as State Day, of West Virginia's semi-centennial week, was taken as final indication that all differences existing between the people of the two commonwealths as a result of the division of the state of Virginia during the civil war has been obliterated. Secretary of State, William J. Bryan will be present at the ceremonies late this afternoon. Many notables from Washington came here today on a special train. They included many of the Virginia and West Virginia members of congress and ex-Senator Henry Clayway Davis.

Dowager Queen of Italy May Soon Pay Visit to the United States.

The dowager Queen Margherita of Italy, whose latest picture is presented above, was recently reported to be considering a trip to America. Although no definite plans have been announced, it was said she would make known her decision soon. The visit of the dowager queen to this country would be made the occasion of many celebrations by the Italian American people.

ington came here today on a special train. They included many of the Virginia and West Virginia members of congress and ex-Senator Henry Clayway Davis.

OBITUARY

Clarence S. Gray

Clarence S. Gray of Kingston, living just across the Exeter line, near what is known as Great Hill died at his home there Wednesday night at the age of 74 years. He was a native of Portsmouth, being born June 23, 1838, and at the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion, enlisted as a member of the Second New Hampshire regiment. He served through the greatest part of the war as corporal but returned as a first lieutenant. He was a member of the Moses N. Collins Post of the G. A. R. of Exeter and by vocation was a mason. He is survived by a widow and two daughters Mrs. Samuel Y. Davis of Exeter and Lenora Gray of Kingston.

WOMEN REDUCE FAT WALKING ON STILTS.

Landes Peasants Perform Tricks Perched 15 Feet Above the Ground.

Men live on stilts in the Landes, beyond Bayonne, France, says Sterling Irving in the Kansas City Star. Young women standing twelve feet high, stride through the scrub with the men's dinner pail. On stilts they guard vast flocks of sheep. On stilts they shoot wild duck, woodcock and snipe. On stilts they trim the mulberry trees and tap the pines for superior quality of turpentine. On stilts they seek patches of wild strawberries; come and go among the cultivated fields. Boys and girls play tag on stilts, and in the twilight loving couples stroll arm in arm on stilts, and whisper words of love.

"Everybody's doing it," because it's a scrubland land, as flat and boundless as the ocean. The wilderness, of sandy soil, scrubwood and bushes interspersed with pine forests, stretched on every hand, sparsely inhabited, without roads, Venture off the great highways and you can be lost for good. You may starve before you find a habitation, wandering in the scrubwood as high as your head, from sandy clearing in salty pool, with only the waterfowl for companions.

The inhabitants have always walked on stilts to find their way. Walk twelve feet high and you dominate an ocean of greenery which seems to be at your feet. The shepherds can look down and watch their sheep at ease. Strayed lambs are followed up. The dogs themselves look up to the master for an indication.

Without stilts no one goes far from the house or well-known home surroundings. Without stilt walking is difficult, the face is cut and scratched and all sense of direction is abolished.

From this land where children are almost born on stilts, come forth these couple, trios or quartets of stilt dancers whose astonishing tricks amuse the cities and little watering places of the Basque country, the Pyrenees and the entire South of France. They can take up a good collection even among poor villagers, who are familiar with the stilt dancing and therefore competent judges of its adept. The musical accompanist is generally an elderly man beating a drum and playing a mouth organ fixed on iron brackets from his shoulders. Behind him stalk gravely a boy and girl, sometimes a "why mamma—I have never seen a fat one." Standing a clear fifteen or twenty feet high, the stilted strappers to their ankles and knees—where they end—their hands and arms are free, and they use them effectively during the dance performance in theatrical representations of exaggerated grace.

The drum rolls. The crowd collects in the village place and to a lively dance air on the mouth organ the boy and girl simply spin like tops all over the place. Crack! Crack! The iron tipped stilts crack on the stone paved place. The two performers bend and turn, leap at impossible angles, pull up, leap and hop about, arm in arm, let go and whirl. The girl wheels and the boy pursues. He catches her; they wriggle till you think they would fall and break their legs, and then the girl drops loose and rises again in a ridiculous dancing step of mingled grace. Again the boy pursues her. Now when he catches her in a clear space he grips her left hand firmly with his right hand and to the music simply whisks the girl round and round at arm's length, himself pivoting on one stilt, until the combination of centrifugal and centripetal force relaxes her and her skirts and her stilt to whirl almost horizontally.

PROMINENT MEN WILL ATTEND.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 20.—The healing of the half century old scars caused by the dividing of the old commonwealth of Virginia during the Civil war will be celebrated here today when West Virginia's semi-centennial week opens. Besides Governor Mann, of Virginia, Secretary Bryan and other federal government officials will attend and make addresses.

James E. Russell of Dover was a visitor here today.

Webb Liquor Law Not Criminal Statute, Simply Prohibits.

Washington, June 20.—The Webb law, forbidding interstate shipments of liquor into "dry" states, is not a criminal statute and violations of it cannot be prosecuted in United States courts, Attorney-General McKeen says today.

The law merely prohibits such interstate traffic and contains no penalty for infractions.

"Its purpose," said the attorney-general, "is to permit state laws to operate in respect of intoxicating liquors moving in interstate commerce."

The law simply deprives shippers of any privileges they might claim on the ground of interstate commerce and permits the application of state prohibition laws to interstate commerce in liquors.

This is the first time the department of justice has construed the Webb law which was declared unconstitutional by former President Taft and former Attorney-General Wickersham.

KITTERY

Breezy Items From the Village Across the River.

Kittery correspondent's telephone, 778-M; P. O. address, Box 303.

Class day exercises were given yesterday at Academy hall, as announced by the class of 1913, Tripp Academy, a large number of townspeople being present. The stage was prettily banked with daisies, ferns and oak leaves, these being the only decorations. Members of the lower classes acted as ushers.

In connection with yesterday's exercises we print below the class will as given by Webster Randall of Kittery Point:

Class Will.

Be it remembered, that we, the class of T. A. '13, of the Town of Kittery, in the county of York and State of Maine, being of sound mind and memory, do make this our last will and testament.

After the payment of our just debts and expenses, we hereby dispose of our estate as follows:

First, we give, bequeath that tender spot within the hearts of our class for the teachers of Tripp Academy to the juniors, who will be so fortunate as to capture it.

To a certain sophomore girl we give, bequeath and devise the large envelope in our president's desk, the contents of which are under seal, said envelope containing a document which gives to a Portsmouth gentleman the right to sit on a nearby building until the close of the daily session. The said sophomore girl has a friend, across the river.

The beautiful blue gown in which we have seen our president dressed so often we give and bequeath to Miss Sprague for by all appearance blue is her favorite color.

To Miss Waite we hereby bequeath that remarkable power of memory which seems to be so natural to Miss Spinney, for unfortunately Miss Waite is gifted with a quiet disposition.

We give and bequeath to Fletcher the strip of car-tickets in Gladys's desk to enable him to come to Kittery more often, for she desires to use the telephone line to Kittery Point occasionally herself. The brass button bearing the word "conductor" in round-robin style, tucked away so carefully in Miss Spinney's desk we give and bequeath to a freshman girl because of the value of that word "conductor."

To the junior class we hereby give and bequeath the large geography (in Miss Sawyer's desk, said book plainly designating by the aid of red lines the shortest route by which they may walk to Washington. Just imagine them for a moment counting the railroad ties as they gradually approach the capital city.

We also give to the junior class the interest money on Miss Sawyer's $5, invested in the Laboratory Stock Co. This will somewhat aid them in their Washington fund.

We hereby give and extend to them the right to every dictionary in the main room, for they will meet unusually large words in Macaulay's life of Samuel Johnson.

To Furbish we give, bequeath and devise the few bright implements tucked away so neatly in Miss Sawyer's desk for together these comprise what the ladies know as a manicuring set.

We also bequeath to Furbish Miss Truett's chemistry note book for he is expected to be an expert chemist.

We give, and bequeath to the sophomore class Miss Brooks' English note book. We have been advised to keep the said books to remind us of our past accomplishments, but Miss Brooks says that the English cause has already left such an impression upon her memory that she will need no reminder.

To the Academy library we give, and bequeath her short hand book for we desire that the future students read Dr. Johnson's address on the care of the teeth and especially to learn what the Dr. calls, "High Water Mark."

As the middy blouse the past few years has been very popular we desire to keep the style in the school by transferring Miss Knight's to Miss Bridges until something better is sent forth from the city that represents "style."

We give and bequeath Miss Knight's glasses to Dunbar for he seems too prone to overlook a few words during the preparation of his English lesson. He pretends that they are not found in his limited vocabulary and sometimes not even in the dictionary.

The article entitled Colonel Goethals and his work at the Panama Canal, with the words "beware of the subject" written across the top, we give to Miss Durgin, warning her to beware of the subject. Those who did not have a part in our graduation were instructed to write upon the said subject. They wrote in connection with the Panama canal and not in regard to Colonel Goethals, the result was, do them over, hence beware of the subject.

To the freshmen class we give and bequeath that lonesome letter "I" on Miss Phillips' report card which caused her to shed so many tears for apparently they are better acquainted with them than we are.

The said tears to be given to a member of the Latin class.

We give to Hobbs the position in the office soon to be vacated by Cole. This said position offers no salary but Cole, so much like ex-President Taft, would consider another call.

Cole's black sweater with the bright orange stripe, and his conspicuous necktie as well, we bequeath to Hobbs.

To Miss Luella we give an bequeath the dimple on Cole's face, noticeable only when you make him blush.

If there are any literary digests remaining on the bulletin board we give them to the senior girls who remind us of England in her early history, always looking for the lion's share of everything, never thinking of the boys.

The ghost so recently noticed in Blaney's desk we give to the teacher, who took it away from him.

We give, bequeath and devise to a junior boy the "New Testament" in Blaney's possession, trusting that it is not always best to tell the principal when the seniors post a dance.

To each individual of the school we give a copy of the Saturday Evening Post, by permission of Mr. Moody. Our intention being wholly to increase his trade.

The remaining part of Moody's bottle of syrup which he uses every day upon his bread, we give to Brown. The said bottle now bears the name "syruping syrup," the said Brown being at times touched with nervousness, especially while he demonstrates a proposition in geometry.

The several pieces of spearmint gum in Chick's desk we give and bequeath to the boys of the French class, who several times have refused to recite, saying to themselves, "I cannot talk, for French is not my native tongue."

We give to Fletcher Chick's share in the alarm clock, said share being the value of 25c, asking Fletcher, to find the clock and keep it just to remember him by.

Our estate is now nearly disposed of, but we still feel that we can afford to give just one tick of Chick's curly hair to Miss Eleanor Lambert.

To Mr. Hodgdon we give and bequeath a three months' rest, trusting that he will enjoy the warm summer months on the piazza of his nearby cottage.

The blacking outfit purchased by Curtis in the sophomore year we transfer to the freshmen class, who will no doubt demand that their shoes be well polished by the incoming class.

Finally we each individually extend our heartfelt thanks to the faculty of Tripp Academy that we might show to them that we appreciate the privilege of graduating under their supervision.

In testimony whereof we hereunto set our hands and seal, and declare this to be our last will and testament, this 19th day of June, in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. (Signed and sealed by the class of 1913 of T. A.)

The annual exhibition of the juniors of Tripp Academy occurred last evening at 8 o'clock. The question discussed was: "Resolved, that the United States should be exempt from paying tolls through the Panama Canal." Following were the participants: Affirmative, Marlon U. Milliken, Mary L. Durgin, Ralph Fletcher; Negative, Ruth E. Natino, Mina G. Moulton, Ellen A. Bowden.

The judges were, Supt. Pringle of Portsmouth schools, Curtis Matthews of Portsmouth, and Mr. Parker of Portsmouth, and the question was decided in favor of the negative side.

The class motto is "Carpe Diem," and the members are: President, Ralph Fletcher; vice president, Mary L. Durgin; secretary-treasurer, Josephine M. Waite; Ellen A. Bowden, Hana G. Bridges, Raymond F. Furbish, Mildred M. Heeney, Edna F. Kimball, Marlon U. Milliken, Myra G. Mitchell, Mina G. Moulton, Ruth E. Natino.

Mrs. Oscar Marr of East Boston is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Marr of Whipple road. Mr. Marr will spend the week-end here.

Miss Geneva Gupta, teacher at the Austin primary school, leaves tomorrow to pass the summer vacation at her home at Pine Point, Me.

All schools in town close today for the long vacation.

Miss Annie Hunscom of Dover was in town on Thursday.

Commencement exercises at Tripp Academy occur this evening at 8 o'clock. The valedictory will be given by Miss Edna Smith, the salutatory by Miss Susie Baker, and the address of the evening by State Superintendent Payson Smith.

Dirigo Encampment, I. O. O. F., holds its regular meeting this evening.

Mrs. Adelle Plaisted of South Berwick is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Justin H. Shaw of Pleasant street.

A dog belonging to Walter Philbrick of Pine street was struck by the York Beach train Tuesday evening and so badly injured that he had to be immediately killed.

Carpenter Frank M. Smith, U. S. N., has been ordered to duty at the local navy yard from the Charles town yard.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Smith have many friends here who will be glad to have them once more in our midst.

Mrs. Loren Hutchins and two sons, Loren, Jr., and Kenneth, of East Boston, and Mrs. W. P. Simpson of Melrose Highlands, are guests of Mrs. Sarah Richardson of Pleasant street.

Amos Louis Colburn of the Intervene is improving from a severe attack of bronchitis.

Mr. George Burnham is located in his new home on Burnham avenue.

Harry Foster has moved his family into the Sargent house, vacated by Mr. Burnham.

COMMENCEMENT BALL OF GRADUATION CLASS

A Brilliant Affair to Wind Up An Interesting Day--March a Feature--Graduation Exercises in the Afternoon.

The graduates of the High School closed a very interesting day with their commencement ball at Freeman's Hall, and it must be said that it was one of the prettiest parties for years. In the first place the hall was so noticeable at former receptions was lacking for the class had limited the tickets so that while there was a big party it was a comfortable crowd.

The hall was prettily decorated, the class colors blue and gold, being used to good effect. The stage was draped and decorated with flowers.

The reception was held while the concert was given and the class officers were seated in receiving by Principal and Mrs. J. W. Hobbs, Miss Katherine E. Boone and Mr. Louis Collins.

One of the distinctive features of the party was the grand march by the graduation class, the young ladies in their handsome costumes of white and the young men in their dark suits and white shirts. The march was a pretty movement, forming the letter H, and it was well executed and brought forth great applause. The march was led by President Norman E. Rand and Vice President Marion T. Craig, followed by Treasurer Fred H. Prout and Secretary Beatrice G. Meads.

General dancing followed the march and it was well into the morning before the strains of the music for the last waltz died away.

The following were the order of dances:

Presentation Address

The following was the excellent address by Roy Albert McDonald on the presentation of the class gift:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: Our forefathers were not undeluded of the vast importance of education for no sooner had they established governments than they passed a law which compelled all villages of fifty families to maintain a common school, and all those of one hundred families to support a grammar school.

The school houses of those days were far from being elaborately constructed and for the most part contained one large room only, in which were the pupils' benches, the teacher's desk, and a large fire-place, usually filled with pine boughs from the neighboring forest. On the walls was hardly a picture of any kind for ornamentation. One can easily imagine how a pupil of those days found have felt, during the wasted minutes when upon casting his eyes about, the only things which came in range of his line of vision, were four bare walls.

However, upon looking out of a window, he could see one of nature's pictures, the open, with the stately trees, and dense shrubbery in the background and the tree stump which were once a part of the primeval forest, in the foreground.

Today it is vastly different. The great towering trees, the bushes and the blanket of pine needles, have been destroyed to satisfy that ever hungry monster--advancement.

In place of these rude surroundings, the pupil of today has a worthy substitute, something which will attract his attention from the bustling world outside, and attract it, to his surroundings, the walls of his class room.

If the room is adorned in a suitable manner, it will provide a change from the monotony of the pupils' studies. Again, if the adornment consists mostly of pictures, the pupil can study these; grasp the meaning; think of the events connected with them, and perhaps enjoy an imaginary journey with the principal figures, while the teacher is expounding with an indifferent pupil, in a futile attempt to impress upon his mind certain rules in arithmetic.

Then again, not only in school, but after the school days are a thing of the past, there remain those sweet imperishable memories, which haunt the now grown-up boy or girl, and bring back the times when he sat and dreamed about the beautiful pictures in the old school room.

As the days of our school life draw to a close, there is always some feeling of regret, at the thought of leaving our teachers and those associations which for four long years have been ours to enjoy and use. No doubt it was due to this thought that someone was prompted to originate the custom of class gifts, as a parting tribute to what has been the house of learning for the past few years.

Graduates of the Portsmouth High School have given various kinds of gifts, the most important of which are sculpture--historical and artistic; books and pictures, pleasing and useful as well as those which have a story to tell. From among these, we have chosen our own farewell gift, a valuable collection of pictures, a group which as far as possible, will be a help to the entire student body.

In pictures we have what we hope will prove to be a valued addition to the decoration of our school. For instance in our building some rooms have pictures which are properly distributed and are appropriate, while others have pictures in abundance though they do not correspond with the subjects which are taught in these rooms, and still others, one in particular, is nearly devoid of any kind of ornamentation.

Our choice is also a change from the gifts which have been presented during the past few years, and we can all agree that at times a change is both profitable and acceptable. Again, in giving pictures we have something which may help more of the departments in our institution than some other gifts might at this time.

Our gift is five-fold, consisting of five handsome pictures, in sepia, framed in a rich, dark oak moulding. The first and most important of this collection is that renowned scene representing Shakespeare's burial-place, Holy Trinity, Stratford-upon-Avon. Who can imagine a more beautiful scene than that winding river with the stately trees on either bank, and the towering church spire in the distance? Is it not fitting enough to grace the walls of any class room? This picture is especially for the English department.

Next in importance is "Anne Hathaway's Cottage." This picture and the first may be hung together, for it was here that Shakespeare did his courting and won for himself a bride. As this scene hangs gracefully in some English room, we hope that during the scholars' spare moments they can imagine Shakespeare approaching the gate, on what may have been his errand of proposal.

Our next picture is "Mt. Vernon," the home of George Washington, one of the world's greatest generals, and the deliverer during that memorable struggle known as the American Revolution. Hence, what can be more inspiring than to have a picture illustrative of this man-to adorn our school room?

Of the same character, that is, an American subject, the next in order is a picture known as "Independence Hall." Here is a scene which ought to stir every true American to a spirited pitch of patriotism for it was in this celebrated hall that our forefathers stood and announced their intention to break from England's tyranny, and start the contest which made the American nation what it is today.

Last, there remains a picture which is entirely different from the foregoing subjects, but which is just as important as those already considered. It is entitled "Walt Disney's Power of Steam." During his boyhood Walt was thought to be a lazy and dreamy lad and was scolded many times by his parents for his fault. One day, as the picture tells us, he was sitting beside the glowing hearth, watching the "puff," "puff" of the steam escaping from the teakettle. As he sat there an inspiration came to him, and we all know, he wondered how that escaping vapor could be utilized to advantage. The rest of the story is well known, and the results of Walt's meditations can be seen to day in the locomotive--a dreamer's dream. This picture is for the science department which has been neglected of late years. We consider it a worthy choice, and one which will add those who are interested in that branch of the school.

I, therefore, present to you the chairman of the High School committee, in behalf of the class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirteen of the Portsmouth High School, these inspiring pictures as a final tribute to that institution with which we have been in close relationship for the past four years; and may those left behind profit by these gifts, and go out into the world with the same feeling of good will towards that foster-mother, which is so dear to all of us--the Portsmouth High School.

MALE SUFFRAGIST APES MISS DAVIDSON'S MARTYRDOM

Flings Himself to Death in Front of Belmont's Horse, Which Stood to Win The Ascot Gold Cup.

Ascot, England, June 19.--Pled by the recent example of Miss Emily Wilding Davidson during the race for the Derby, a male suffragist today committed suicide by fling himself in front of August Belmont's four-year old Tracery during the race for the valuable Ascot gold cup and deprived the American sportsman of a good chance of capturing the trophy.

The man was killed on the spot. The horse and the rider, although they were both brought to the ground, were unharmed.

Waving a flag of the suffragette colors in one hand and brandishing a revolver in the other, the militant suffragist sprang over the rail just as the field of eight horses with the American Tracery leading were nearing the straight for the run home.

With a loud yell of "Stop!" he bounded in front of the horses, and Tracery collided with and felled him before the jockey, A. Whalley, had time to avert the catastrophe.

TO LIGHTEN GERMAN MILITARY BURDEN.

The Reichstag adopted a resolution yesterday providing for the shortening and lightening of military service in proportion to the better mental and physical training of recruits. The Budget committee in revising the Government tax measures has adapted a tax on the increment of fortunes, including an inheritance tax. It was the latter tax which caused Von Buelow's downfall in 1909, and the Conservatives are still strongly opposed to it.

GOING BACK TO RECOVER SPECIMENS

Nome, Alaska, June 19.--John Koren, the Norwegian naturalist, who was wrecked near Cape Sergeant, on the Siberian Coast, last fall, and who reached Nome March 21, after many harrowing experiences, while crossing the ice in Bering Strait, left on the United States revenue cutter Ptarmigan for Siberia.

Mr. Koren will return to the scene of the wreck and attempt to recover some of the rare specimens of Arctic flowers and birds which he was gathering for the private museum of John R. Thayer, a millionaire of Lancaster, Mass., who was financing the expedition, and for the Harvard Museum.

Koren left Tacoma in 1910 and went north along the Siberian Coast to the mouth of the River Colyma, up which he sailed 500 miles farther than any white man ever had penetrated before.

Early last April John R. Thayer of Lancaster and Boston received word from Nome, Alaska, announcing the loss of the vessel in which he sent an expedition into the Arctic three years ago, to secure specimens for his museum in South Lancaster and also material for Harvard University. Capt. Johan Koren, the leader of the expedition, who sent the message, gave the further information that the vessel was a total wreck and the shores of Siberia, but that the material which the expedition had secured had been cached in Siberia and that the only loss sustained was the vessel.

The vessel left Tacoma, Wash., April 26, 1910, manned by Capt. Koren and three other white men, who were later reinforced by two Eskimos. The expedition, which was for the purpose of gathering zoological, botanical and natural history specimens in the Arctic and sub-Arctic regions, visited the islands of Alaska, the Bering Sea and the Arctic Ocean, including the Aleutian Islands, Norton Sound and Nunivak Island. The members of the party besides Capt. Koren, were First Mate Samuel Eger, Engineer Arthur Nordahl and Hangvald Richards, a naturalist, Norwegians. No life was lost.

ENGINEERS AT PANAMA WILL WASH AWAY HILLS

Plan With Hydraulic Pressure To Save Culabra Cut From Slides

Taking their clue from the great hydraulic mining plants developed on the coast, the mining engineers in the Canal Zone have resolved to try to wash away the hills which tower above the Culabra cut. Already an elaborate plan of hydraulic monitors has been installed near Gold Hill, overlooking the famous cut. Drawing on a great supply of water, obtained by damming the Obispo river, the engineers are going to sluice away the sides of the hill, directing their streams so as to cause the water-borne earth to be carried backward and away from the Culabra cut and into the valley in the rear.

It is hoped in that way to relieve the tremendous pressure on the lower strata, which has been rising up into the cut in defiance of the continuous operations of dozens of great steam shovels, which often are themselves overwhelmed and buried by the moving earth.

Paradoxical though it seems, the first thing to be done by the army engineers after they have succeeded in their great task of severing the two continents of North and South America by the Panama Canal, will be to reestablish a connection, it is necessary that communication by rail be maintained unimpeded between the north and the south bank of the canal, especially if the railway system of North and South America are to be linked so as to afford unbroken connections between New York and Buenos Aires.

Bridges high enough above the canal to admit the passage of ocean-going vessels with their lofty masts are out of the question. A tunnel had been projected in pass under the canal in the vicinity of Paradise Junction, but that has been abandoned because of the great cost. Finally the decision has inclined to a system of large steam car floats constituting a gigantic ferry, which probably will be located near Camp Elliott.

NAVY INTERESTED IN YACHT CLUB SCHEME

Washington, June 19.--Officials of the Navy Department are much interested in the action of the Boston Yacht Club in organizing power boats into divisions which are exercised in elementary tactics and signals similar to those used by the navy. F. D. Roosevelt, the Acting Secretary of the Navy, received a report from Commander Roger Upton, commanding the power squadron of the club, giving an interesting account of their work. Mr. Roosevelt is much pleased with the club's work in this direction and has directed that the department cooperate with other clubs which take similar action.

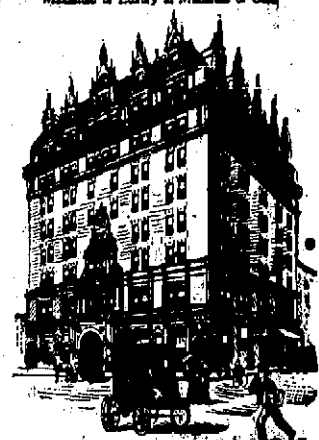

From a division of five boats, Commander Upton declared, a squadron of twenty-four power boats has developed, and during the last year this squadron has manoeuvred off the coast even in storms and bad weather, during which the boats proved their seaworthiness and their owners obtained much practical experience in handling their craft in accordance with naval usage and signals.

"It is the wish of the Department," Mr. Roosevelt said, "to encourage this new departure in yachting, and it is hoped that other yacht clubs will follow the example of the Boston club in this respect. It appears that the Boston power boat yachtsmen are very enthusiastic in this new line, inasmuch as it affords not only recreation and amusement but introduces an element of naval discipline and training. The experience in naval gunnery, etc.; the keeping of position in squadron formation, the working together in divisions similar to those of the naval fleet tends to bring the yachtsmen more in touch and sympathy with the navy. The results already accomplished point to the possibility of using power boat divisions for inshore patrol and scout duty in a manner that might be of great practical use in time of war. The idea is one which deserves serious consideration, and it is hoped that all yacht clubs will take it up with a view to the development of a secondary auxiliary to the navy in defensive warfare."

RACE ON THAMES TODAY

New London, Conn., June 20--Today is the day. At least, that's the way it looks to the several thousand Yale and Harvard graduates and undergraduates who are here today with their sweethearts, wives and banners to see Bill and John Harvard in the annual varsity eight oared race on the Thames. While the Crimson team from Cambridge still ruled a slight favorite today, there wasn't the same confidence of victory evident today, and it was generally admitted by the scores of rowing experts who are here to see the great race, that the Blue had a chance, and a good chance at that, to return a winner.
